STATEMENT IN SUPPORT OF
PRE-APPEAL BRIEF REQUEST FOR REVIEW

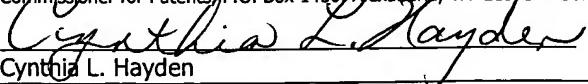

Sir:

Claim 1 calls for demultiplexing and detecting a demultiplexer wavelength using an L-shaped detector. The claim is rejected as anticipated by Fan.

Fan has nothing to do with multiplexed optical signals and nothing to do with detecting demultiplexed wavelengths. Fan is a photodetector for a camera.

Certainly, there is no multiplexed optical signal in Fan. To suggest otherwise would be to claim that light in the air that might be imaged by the camera is a multiplexed optical signal. There is no basis for such a position and reconsideration would be appropriate.

Claim 12 was rejected under Section 103 based on a single reference. Logically and legally such a rejection cannot make out a prima facie case. Concededly, since Section 103 is relied upon, Takagi is missing an element.

Date of Deposit: June 6, 2006
I hereby certify under 37 CFR 1.8(a) that this correspondence is being deposited with the United States Postal Service as first class mail with sufficient postage on the date indicated above and is addressed to the Commissioner for Patents, P.O. Box 1450, Alexandria, VA 22313-1450.
 Cynthia L. Hayden

Takagi cannot teach modifying itself. The suggestion that something is known in the art is belied by the admission that Takagi does not teach it. To the extent this “art” is intended to be relied upon, a reference should be cited. Similarly, the assertions of conventional remedies should be supported by citation of art. The suggestion of a string of items which are allegedly conventional remedies or known in the art does not suffice at this stage (upon final rejection) to make out a viable prima facie rejection.

No rationale to combine is asserted other than “accordingly it would have been obvious to a skilled person to integrate the additional filter with the photodetector in order to supplement filter 5 and obtain a higher isolation of the wavelength.” But nothing anywhere in the prior art suggests such a thing. The rejection fails to make out a prima facie rejection and, based on a single reference, is legally and logically unsupportable.

Reconsideration would be appropriate.

Respectfully submitted,
